The mountain laurel can be found flowering in natural areas and forests from Maine to Florida.

The Laurel by MossCreek is, with its organic exterior, is equally suitable in America's natural areas and forests. The exterior features a stone water table, painted timbers, board and batten siding, and shingle siding.

On the interior, the Laurel comes alive with an open living plan so that no one is apart from the activities. The great Room is especially denoted by a vaulted ceiling and timber trusses.

To ensure that everyone stays in comfort, the Laurel has four nice bedrooms, including a Master Suite on the main level.

The lower level features a gracious Family Room, Exercise Rm, and Garage.
